MEMORIAL FUNDS AND MEDALS

Morton Allport Memorial Fund (1879)

The sum of £200 was raised by special subscription as a memorial to Morton Allport, a generous donor of collections to the Museum and a contributor of numerous papers, who also took an active interest in the introduction of salmon and other trout. The income accruing from the Memorial Fund is applied to the purchase of scientific books.

R. M. Johnston Memorial Fund (1920)

The sum of £230 was subscribed as a memorial to R. M. Johnston, Government Statistician, a member of the Society from 1883 till his death in 1918, and a Member of the Council and Vice-President for many years. During that time he contributed 103 papers, the subjects embracing statistics, geology, botany, zoology, and palaeontology. He will be remembered not only by students of social and economic science, but also by those interested in Tasmanian geology.

The Memorial Fund provides for (1) Lecture, (2) Medal to be presented to the lecturer, and (3) Purchase of books.

Medals presented—

The royal family left Petersburg for their country palace in Gatchina; from here Alexander set about restoring law and order in Russia. He was determined to strengthen autocratic rule and quickly dismissed any liberal proposals in government. Just as he believed in God, he sacredly believed in a special destiny for Russia, void of Western reforms. Traveling by train, the royal family was approaching Kharkov when the train derailed and crashed. The carriages flew down from a high embankment. The walls of the dining room car, where the Tsar was at time, crashed under their own roof. 200 the royal society of tasmania, 1843-1943. The name of the Society has been changed on several occasions. At the inaugural meeting it was decided to call the society 'The Botanical and Horticul-tural Society of Van Diemen's Land'. The constitution was approved, the Gardens in the Domain were placed at the disposal of members, and an annual grant of Â£400 was confirmed. By an Act of the Legislative Council in 1854, the property of the Royal Society was vested in Trustees, and in 1855 the name was altered to 'The Royal Society of Tasmania for Horticulture, Botany, and the Advancement of Science'. When the Act of 1854 was repealed in 1911, the Royal Society Act (2 Geo.
